Lovers of adventure, passionate about biodiversity and baobabs, this trip is for you. Explorer, scientist, world-renowned specialist of baobabs, Cyrille Cornu has designed a tour to bring you to the most beautiful baobab forests of Madagascar.

The trip we propose is located in the southwestern part of the island between the cities of Morondava and Tulear. Throughout this journey, you will benefit from the explanations of the great specialist, Cyrille, who will accompany you and bring you the knowledge necessary to understand the extraordinary diversity of baobabs on the Big Island. A conference organized as close as possible to the subject in the form of a naturalist journey.

At nightfall, you will have the chance to witness an unforgettable spectacle, the blossoming of a baobab flower, you will be able to observe the animals that visit these flowers, you will approach the most beautiful specimens of baobabs in perfectly preserved ecosystems, and finally you will meet the most powerful baobabs of the island but also the smallest. During the expedition,

Cyrille will share with you the fruits of his years of research. He will discuss the impact of deforestation but also that of climate change. He will make you discover many local practices in connection with the giants, including the one, unique in the world, of the baobab diggers who, in order to survive in an extremely arid region, the Mahafaly plateau, build cisterns inside the baobabs themselves!

Ready for adventures in the heart of the most beautiful baobab forests on the planet? In the following program, Cyrille presents you the key moments of the trip he has concocted for you.

- After Antsirabe, we will be driving due west towards Miandrivazo. As we go along, mosaics of rice terraces and various crops, hills overhung with red brick houses of the Central Highlands will give way to the arid landscapes of the Sakalava Middle-West and the "peeled" mountains jagged by erosion of the southern Bongolava massif.

Our first day will end in Miandrivazo, a stopover town located on the banks of the Tsiribihina River.

A journey punctuated by stops to admire the baobabs crossed along the track. The track is quite difficult with its share of fords, rivers and sandy portions. We will be following this beautiful road to get to the village of Belo-sur-mer.

Several baobab conservation projects are underway in this region, with nurseries and income-generating activities for the villagers, in order to raise awareness about the protection of this endangered species.

Once we arrive at our destination, we will join our hotel, the Ecolodge du Menabe, on the edge of the Mozambique Channel.

The day will end with a sunset from the top of the dune which culminates at 42 meters of altitude.

A night visit of the forest will allow us to attend a moment of great beauty, the blooming of a baobab flower and to surprise, hopefully, some nocturnal visitors of the flowers.

After a good meal taken around a campfire, we will join our tents planted in edge of sea.

I designed a baobab trail there about ten years ago, a trail that we will walk together in the heart of one of the best preserved baobab forests in the world.

Very different from the forests found north of Morondava, the Kirindy Mitea Park is largely covered by a primary dry forest, which marks the transition between the western and southern landscapes. We find several plant species representative of the arid climate of the South including Didiereaceae and Euphorbiaceae, as well as 3 species of baobabs.

The park shelters a littoral part composed of a patchwork of brackish wetland which makes it an excellent center of observation of the birds. A great diversity of landscapes is found on this site, between coastal dunes, islets, mangroves and savannah, sheltering a varied fauna: lemurs, reptiles, fish, birds, bats...

Its turquoise waters and extremely rich seabed lined with idyllic beaches attract many visitors. Inland, the vegetation is amazing. Baobabs with strange shapes grow in low thorny forests. The baobabs here are only a few meters high. They are called bottle trees because of their round and squat shape. We will be visiting these baobab stands and try to understand the origin of their particular morphology.

In this region without lake or river, where it rains only a few months in a year, these cisterns and their reserves allow the inhabitants to survive in a particularly arid and hostile environment. During two days, we will be taking time to meet the baobab diggers of Ampotaka and their living tanks.
