HANDSOME HAVELIS, MESMERISING DUNES

The magnificent forts of Jodhpur, Jaisalmer and Jaipur bear testimony to the fierce battles that once raged across this desert land, whilst the romantic palaces of Udaipur and Bikaner offer a glimpse of a softer side to the rich history of this part of India.

The tour commences from Delhi, and then to Mandawa town remarkable for its colorfully painted havelis (mansions) that make it very culture enthusiast's delight. Travelling west to the desert towns of Bikaner and Jaisalmer, get an inside look into the Rajasthani way of life. An unforgettable highlight of this trip is the camel journey across the shimmering sands of the Thar Desert, visiting temple ruins and forgotten, remote villages along the way.

Our itinerary includes the three erstwhile royal capitals of Rajasthan – Jodhpur, Udaipur, and Jaipur – each with its own glittering palaces, temples and soaring forts. We also make time to see the magnificent tiger in his natural habitat along with a plethora of wildlife at Ranthambore National Park, before travelling to Agra, in Uttar Pradesh, to pay homage to the magnificent Taj Mahal, and visit the one-time Mughal capital of Fatehpur Sikri, before continuing on to Delhi

HIGHLIGHTS

- Camel safari through the shimmering sand dunes near Jaisalmer
- Stunning Mehrangarh Fort, Jodhpur
- Tiger-spotting at Ranthambore National Park
- Magnificent Taj Mahal in all its glory and grandeur
- Gigantic Chittorgarh Fort and intricately designed 'bauri' (step well) in Bundi.

Day 4

- In the morning, we visit the famous Jain Temple which is the oldest existing structure in Bikaner.
- Later, we drive to Jaisalmer, founded in the year 1156 by Bhatti Rajput ruler Rawal Jaisal. Often described as Golden City or a golden mirage rising at the heart of the Thar Desert, the commanding Fort etched in yellow sandstone dominates the amber-hued city with its awesome splendor. The merchants of the 19th century built havelis (Mansions), which are exquisitely carved from golden-yellow sandstone and are still in a beautiful condition. The life within the fortified town conjures up images of medieval majesty, visible in its narrow lanes, the magnificent palace, havelis, temples, and of course, skilled artisans and the ubiquitous camels.
- After checking into our hotel, it's time to visit the Bada Bagh, It has a number of Royal cenotaphs or chhatris of Maharajas of Jaisalmer, decorated with a beautifully carved ceiling and elegant equestrian statues of rulers offering an incredible sunset vistas to tourists, it is the best place to admire the Sunset and to take photographs. Evening is free at leisure.

Day 5

- After the breakfast, we visit the old town of Jaisalmer and Jaisalmer Fort. Perched on an 80m high hill housing the entire township within its ramparts, the golden hued Fort stands like a sentinel in the bleak desert landscape. It is the only 'Living Fort' in India and within its ramparts has meandering narrow lanes dotted with some lovely havelis (Mansions), Palaces and beautifully sculptured Jain Temples of 12th and 15th century CE. In the heart of the town, we also visit the magnificent Patwon Ki Haveli, the most elaborate and magnificent of all the Jaisalmer Havelis that showcases Jaisalmer's legendary architectural wealth.
- Later we drive down 40 kms from Jaisalmer to Sam to enjoy the camel-ride on Sam Sand Dunes watching the setting sun in the west.

Udaipur 📍

Jodhpur - Ranakpur

- In the morning, we leave the parched desert behind and continue our drive towards Udaipur as we climb up the Aravalli hills, separating the desert from the cultivated land of Rajasthan. En route, we visit the Ranakpur, a small town situated in the hills of Pali district. It is home to a very beautiful and one of the biggest and most important Jain temple-complexes of India. It is one of the five most important pilgrimage sites of Jainism. The main temple, which was built during the reign of Rana Kumbha, one of the gifted liberal Rajput monarchs of the 15th century, is the Adinath or Chaumukha temple (the four-faced temple) dedicated to the first Jain teacher, Tirthankar Adinath.

Ranakpur - Udaipur

- Continuing our drive, we arrive in the beautiful Lakeside town of Udaipur. Known as 'The Pearl of Rajasthan', the 'City of Sunrise' and 'Venice of the East', Udaipur is a beautiful place regarded by both Indians as well as foreign tourists as the most romantic city in India. Upon arrival, we transfer to the hotel.

Day 8

- Today, we visit the City Palace Udaipur, a fascinating collection of buildings built by various Maharanas (Warrior Kings) after Udai Singh and completed in the year 1725. The magnificence of the Palace starts right from its entrance at the northern Tripolia Gate that brings us to the central courtyard, the best place to view filigreed balconies and ornate cupola-topped towers. We also visit the Jagdish Temple, the Indo-Aryan temple built in the year 1651 CE by Maharana Jagat Singh and is the largest and the most beautiful temple of Udaipur. In the afternoon, we visit the Saheliyon Ki Bari (Garden of Maids of Honour), an ornamental garden built by Maharana Sangram Singh for his daughter and the ladies of the Queen's court. He built the garden with several fountains and pools further decorated with chiseled pavilions and elephants. The fountains work on the unique hydraulic technique devised in the year 1700 CE and continue to function even now. In the evening, we enjoy a beautiful Sunset view on Lake Pichola, 4km long and 3 kms wide surrounded by hills, palaces, temples, bathing ghats and embankments.
